In compliance with the preceding an nouncement, a meeting was held in the Cotton Salesroom at three o'clock, which was crowded to excess by nearly all the gentlemen frequenting the Exchange. The meeting was quite as remarkable for enthu siasm as numbers After several gentlemen had been requested to preside, the chair was occupied by Mr. James Spence, and on taking the chair, he proceeded to read the subjoined resolution:

SPEECH

Hon. JOHN A. PRAIL, IN SUPPORT OF THE RESOLUTION REPORT BY HIM FROM THE COMMITTEE ON FEDER KE-LATIONS, DECLARING THE POSITION OF EN-TUCKY IN THE EXISTING WAR. DELICRED

MR. SPEAKER: The Committee on edethe Senate, have thought that, inasmoh as the action of this General Assembly at an early period of the session, by whith we called forth the military strengthof the State, only referred, in direct terms to the recent invasion of our soil by the Cafederate armies, which we pledged the dergies of the Commonwealth, with the aidef our Government, to rspel, it was fit and appro-priate now that we should announce that it s not the purpose of Kentncky to mandon that Government which, in this great emergency, has come so promptlyto our rescue, but that we will still follow ts for tunes when the theater of the war shall be removed beyond our borders.

The committee have also attempted to compress within the compass of a single resolution, in connection with this decla ration, a clear and emphatic statement of the position which Kentucky has hitherto occupied pending the organ formidable efforts which have been made for its destruction. The attitude of our State in this great crisis of the country has been the subject of constant misconstruction and misapprehension. At the outset of this great rebellion, with an earnest and patri otic zeal, Kentucky entered upon the work of conciliation and compromise, in the hope that har interposition might be effective in arresting the ruin which seemed impending over the country. And even at a later period, after the fierce and bloody conflict had begun, she stil so far clung to the hope that she might yet be able to mediate for the restoration of harmony and peace, that she declined, for the time, to furnish her quota of troops or to take part in the war. And this position, which she assumed with motives so honorable and patriotio, and which was popularly denominated nen trality, has been sometimes misapprehended but more frequently perverted by those whose wish was father to the treasonable thought, and has been construed as placing the State in an attitude of absolute inde pendence and separation from the Federal Union, occupying precisely the same relations to the Government of which we form a part, and to which we have steadily adhered, and to the enemies who are attempting to destroy it. Nothing could be further from the truth of history, nor more at variance with the lefty and patriotic sentiments ing this in the strongest manner and to the and purposes of these who have guided the policy of Kentucky through this stormy period. Tue candid historian of thesa facts related, and acted on by calling this great even's will record that however that policy may have seemed to change, it has been in strict adaption to the shifting ex igencies of the times, and in perfect harmony with a sentiment of loyalty deeply implanted in the hearts of our people, and which knows no change.

The neutrality which secessionists have at'empted to fasten upon us, is but another name for secession, and secession under whatever name, and in whatever form and guise, has been sternly and indignantly rejected and spurned by our people as often as their voice has been spoken at the polls And Kentucky has taken no position by an ing was hastily convened, and had in its action of her Legislature, nor in the clear with the merits of which the meeting was ator from Kenton, (Mr. Fisk), which were unacquainted. He insisted that there was adopted by the Senate in May last, nor in no reason to betieve that the responsible the forcible and luminous address to her Ministers of the Crown would allow any insult to be offered to the British flag.

> This attempted mediation of Kentucky has been from the beginning thwarted and spurned, and finally defeated by those who. in the madness of their ambitious aims, were bent upon the ruin of their country When the Legislature met here in March the plot of the rovolutionary leaders had been so far successful that seven of the cotton States had been wildly precipitated into rebellion. But the march of the revolution sceme i to have paused. Tennessee, in some of them, an overwhelming vote of their ballots at the point of Secession bayconceived of bringing to bear the conservatism and leyalty and a convention of these eight States was secure and prosperous industry. peace. The umpirage was filly chosen. Standing thus between the extremes, and olosely identified with both, it can scarcely be doubted that whatever basis of adjustment might have been proposed by the united action of this body, would have been cheerfully conceded by the North, and that would have been he Union sentiment thus strengthened would have overwhelmed the revolutionists in the seceded States. But unhappily for the country these agitators saw the coming triumph of the Union through the peaceful agencies which Kentucky had inaugurated. There was about to be a period of cool reflection and statesman-like deliberation, when reason could resume its sway, and the wild passions that had been aroused would have time to oalm. And in those clear beams of hope to the patriot's heart they saw the omens of their own destruction. The fell spirit of secessionism was engendered in violence. Its element was the storm, and the sunlight of truth and reflection would blast and wither it. The southern heart must be fired anew-the tempest must be raised again till the surging waves should engalf the border States, and till they should be brought in to stand as a bulwark for the South, and to ward off the blow which it restraints and safegnards of a common had provoked. Again the work of precipitation was renewed, and Sumpter fell, and Virginia, North Carelina, Arkansas, and and Tennessee, were burled into the fieroe vortex of revolution, in defiance of the last without conflic's too horrid to expression of the will of their people. orth Carolina and Tennessee had not only elected conventions overwhelmingly Union, but had refused to consider the question of a change of their political relations by voting that no conventions should be held, their Legislatures, which had been elected long before, and without reference to the pending questions, assembled and passed the ordinances of secession. And ing millions who throng the course of our lio advance, thousands of true and loyal the conventions in whose hands the people noble rivers and their tributaries may conmen, who have been crushed beneath the of Arkansas and Virginia were assumed to sent to exchange the charter they hold from have lodged their sovereignty, and a majori. the hand of Heaven for a bit of parchment ty of whom had been elected as Union men, faithlessly declared, and attempted to consummate the separation of their States from the Union. Secession, or the assumption of a constitu tional right in each State in the exercise of its reserved sovereignty, of its motion to rend the bends of the Union, and sever its conneotion with the Government, is a pernicious and glaring heresy, ntterly at war with the fundamental principles which form the basis vidual and personal sovereignty, in refer-of cur institutions. And in such a struggle as this, involving results so momentous to the nation and to this Commonwealth, must the burning words of shame be spoken that some of Kentucky's sons are in arms against her, and in sympathy with her enemies? In the political theories of the secession school, State anthority and State action have been con stantly held to be paramount and snpreme, and of binding force and obligation upon every oitizen, and bitter and fieroe been the ourses they have hurled at those patriotic and heroic men of Tennessee and Virginia, and other States, who have refused to bow in submission to the behests of legislatures and conventions which defied mildest and most beneficent government the will of the people, and thousands of whom, driven from their homes by a storm

FORT MCNROE, Dec. 16 -Norfolk and Richmond papers give full particulars of the extensive conflagration at Charlesson. The fire broke out on the 11th inst., in a sash and blind factory, at the foot of Hazel atreet, extending to the machine shop of Cameron & Co., and before midnight, the fire had assumed an appaling magnitude. Neeling street, from Market to Green. was a mass of flames As tenement after tenement was enveloped in flames, the panic became general and awful. Thousan is of families vacated their houses and filled the streets

The buildings in the lower part of the city where the fire broke cut, were princi pally of wood and extremely inflamable which accounts for the remarkable rapidity direction of local magistracies, might be government npon this continent, except in compatible with the vigor and unity and the prising of a free and outraged people boundless expansion of the glorious empired to evision out the proximity of the flames to the Charleston Hotel and the Mills House, cause them to be vacated by their inmates. At one o'clock, the fire tended more southward towards the corner of Archdale and Queen streets to the rear of the Charleston Hotel and the end of House street. Market street, the fire spread down East Bay Amberland street, and across to the Mills House, including in its destruction the Circular Church, Institute Hall, and the Charleston Hotel. All the buildings on King street, from Clifford nearly to Broad street, were destroyed by 3 o'clock.

General Ripley, who superintended the movements of the troops, arrived at the scene about this time, and ordered several bni'dings on the route of the conflagration to be blown up. OFFICE OF THE LOUISVILLE DEMOCRAT
Tuesday Evening, December 17.

The market has, to a great extent, recovered from the effect of the news from Europe; the only evidences of |]n. its remaining are found in the effort to put up the price of coffee, and even that may be partly owing to the anticipated action of Congress in increasing the tariff. But the increased tariff proposed will not of itself instify prices above 18c or 19c; and the attempt of Eastern speculators will very likely recoil on their own heads. Sales were made early in the day at 15%c, then at 19 and 19½c, 20c and closed at 20 to 21c. The panic, if it may be called so, among the tobacco men has subsided, and sales were fully as large as holders had any right to expect if the European news had been of the most pacino character possible. In money matters there is but little movement
